Residents encouraged to participate in local holiday decorating contest

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Local residents will be encouraged to decorate their homes and light up Madison and Jefferson County with holiday glow in the Visit Madison Inc. Make Madison Merry! decorating contest, organized by Nights Before Christmas, Madison Main Street and the City of Madison.

Participation is open to all residents of Jefferson County and entry is free. The contest is for exterior decorations only including decorations in windows that are visible from the exterior. Judging will be done from outside the residence only and based on "curb appeal" in terms of what can be seen from the street.

Registration applications are available online and at the Visitors Center, 601 West First Street, and must be received no later than 5 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 26, in order to participate in the decorating contest and to be part of the Merry Madison Map of decorated homes.

The deadline to have decorations in place is Dec. 1 and participants should ensure that all lights, animations and decorations are in in place and activated during evening hours — approximately 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. — from Dec. 1 to Dec. 31.

Judging will take place from Dec. 6-11 with entries assessed and winners chosen in the following categories: Clark Griswold Award for best use of excessive lights and decorations, Most Creative for outstanding artistic ability and/or unique use of decorations, and People's Choice Award to the entry with the most "likes" on its photograph when posted in a Facebook album during the judging time period.

To be considered for the People's Choice Award, photos must be submitted by participants to makemadisonmerry@gmail.com on or before Dec. 5 at 5 p.m. Please include the name and address in subject line. A confirmation email will be sent once the entry has been read.

Winners will be announced for each category on Dec 14. Three $100 prizes will be awarded — one for each category — in the form of Chamber Cash to be used at participating community businesses.

In addition to the home decorating contest, there is also a contest for local businesses and organizations in which the winners will be announced at Light Up Madison at the Broadway Fountain at 6 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 26.

BPWS OKs Crooked Creek flood mitigation

Tree, brush removal to cost $25,000

BY BOB DEMAREE

Work to mitigate future flash flooding in Madison and Jefferson County will take years to complete, but Madison's Board of Public Works and Safety took some short-term steps toward that goal at Monday's meeting by approving a contract for vegetation remediation along a portion of Crooked Creek.

A $25,000 contract with Pike's Tree Care of Madison was approved for tree and brush removal along Crooked Creek from West Jefferson Street to West Street to improve the unimpeded flow of storm runoff by foliage or trees. The work will be completed between now and March 31.

Madison Mayor Bob Courtney said a survey was done on the entire length of the watershed, and the most urgent work is from Jefferson to West streets because "it's the narrowest area in the whole watershed channel that overflows those banks and created the flooding in that area."

He added that vegetation has not been "remediated there for 15 years and it's very overgrown, and it has impeded the flow of stormwater through the Crooked Creek watershed out to the river."

Courtney noted that Madison City Council has appropriated American Rescue Act funds for stormwater infrastructure, and funds from that grant will be used for the project.

Courtney added that there is private property in the area targeted for vegetation remediation but the city will work with the property owners. "It's urgent that we do this because there's already damage to retaining walls along that area," he said.

"This is only one part to a long-term strategy to bring solutions to mitigate damage from future flash flooding events," he said, as the city works

Lagging vaccinations coincides with increased cases and hospitalizations

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Four out of 10 Hoosier adults are still not fully vaccinated against COVID-19 — a total that is running about 50% in Jefferson County and 34% in Switzerland County — as Indiana's sluggish vaccination rate coincides with recent increases in coronavirus cases and hospitalizations, state health officials said.

The Indiana Department of Health said Friday that 59.8% of Indiana residents 18 and older are now fully vaccinated. Fewer than 3.4 million Hoosiers had been fully vaccinated against COVID-19 as of Friday after a daily increase of just 1,918.

However, about 50.2% of Jefferson County residents have taken at least their first rounds of vaccine while 33.8% have gotten the shot in Switzerland County.

More than 543,000 Hoosiers have not only taken the initial vaccination but have already gotten vaccine boosters

Indiana's hospitalizations due to COVID-19 had been on a downward trajectory since mid-September but those hospitalizations have been climbing again over the past week and the state's death toll continues to climb.

Statewide COVID-19 hospitalizations increased daily with COVID-19 patients occupying 15.1% of Indiana's intensive care unit beds, according to Indiana's virus dashboard.

Indiana's moving average of daily cases, meanwhile, has climbed from about 1,700 to more than 2,200 over the past week.

So far there have been 1,055,571 positive cases of COVID-19 in Indiana and 16,535 total deaths.

Jefferson County has seen 5,411 positive cases — out of 22,306 tests administered — and 102 deaths while Switzerland has had 1,393 test positive — from 5,676 tests

Mother is playing favorites

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I am a 47-year-old woman and have been happily married for 24 years. I have a great relationship with our only daughter, who is 24 years old and thriving. My problem is with my mom. We live in separate states, and she lives close to my two sisters. They are both divorced, with seven kids between the two of them. My mom has stepped in to help financially and with child care. My problem isn't with that, though.

My mom has never come to visit me and uses my sisters' kids (ages 13 to 30) as an excuse. When I've gone to visit her, she still revolves all activities around my sisters and their kids. I would love to have some alone time with my mom and have expressed this several times. She dismisses my feelings as "middle child syndrome."

Since my dad passed away eight years ago, she has taken several vacations with my sisters and other family members, but she still hasn't pursued any time with me. Before his passing, he was her excuse as to why she couldn't visit. Our relationship has dwindled down to a phone call every few weeks, where she complains the whole time. She doesn't even ask about me or my family anymore. I'm starting to wonder why I keep trying or hoping for some memories before it's too late.

Recently, she took my sister to California for her birthday. My daughter lives there, and they didn't reach out to her. When my mom called afterward, she never even mentioned going to California. Since then, I have been feeling vulnerable and left out, but I am tired of asking her to be involved. Should I keep trying or just accept that I am only worth a phone call every few weeks? — I Won't Beg Her

Dear I Won't Beg Her: You don't have to beg her; you just have to call her and tell her how you feel. It is difficult living far away from your mother and sisters, and you feel hurt and left out. Sometimes, it's not intentional; it is more likely a case of "out of sight, out of mind."

The important thing is to reach out to your mom as much as you can.

Dear Annie: I am 73 years old. Many years ago, I was the victim of physical and emotional abuse from two former husbands.

Yes, they perpetrated that abuse on me. But I was the one who "took it" because I did not love or respect myself enough to not allow their abuse. There was abuse from other "significant" men in my life as well.

I love myself more now and would not tolerate those behaviors. As we make choices to create our lives, we must remember to love ourselves first. That is not selfish. It is the foundation on which healthy choices will be made.

And I LOVE the advice you offered in a recent column: When someone shows you who they are, believe them the first time.

Keep up the great work! — Love Yourself First

Dear Love Yourself First: Thank you for sharing your insights after surviving so much abuse. We attract what we expect, and it is good that you have altered your vision of yourself and your expectations from your spouse.

Readers' thoughts on neglected spouses

Dear Readers: Many of you wrote about why the husband of "Neglected Spouse" has not had sex with her in years. We received quite a variety of opinions and comments; here is a sampling:

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: "Neglected Spouse" wrote that her husband hasn't shown interest in her sexually throughout their 30-year marriage. Your answer was thoughtful and encouraging. But I have experienced the same situation in my 37-year marriage because of something rarely discussed. People, especially men, who have autism spectrum disorders like Asperger's syndrome sometimes act like the writer's husband regarding sexuality. Asperger's is a developmental disorder that can affect every part of life.

I've found peace with my autistic husband, and I hope that others may find their own peace. — Been There

Dear Annie: Reading the letter from "Neglected," I was like, "I wrote it." My husband and I had the same issues, only he showed signs of infidelity. We are now divorced.

I am in counseling, and I am happy. I am no longer bitter, so I can be cordial with the guy, who is obviously not happy with his choices. — Beautiful, Inside and Out

Dear Annie: Unfortunately, her husband ignores the therapist option. This could be a chemical/libido problem. I'd say a doctor's visit is needed for him. A hormone checkup may help! — Reader in Italy

Dear Annie: I empathize with the woman who is in a platonic relationship with her husband. I had a similar experience and relate to her need for closeness.

I struggled for seven-plus years with a husband who refused to discuss what was wrong. He pretended to be impotent. I discovered him in the kitchen during the night watching porn and masturbating. Still, he refused to discuss what was wrong except that it was "me." He refused counseling.

We are divorced, and I am happier. My advice to "Neglected" is to let him go. — Speaking from Experience

Dear Annie: "Neglected Spouse" should consider that her husband is probably gay. I was married for 20 years to a man who pretended at first. He was a great actor. But eventually, he became emotionally abusive, saying it was my fault that he didn't want to have sex with me.

I lost my sense of myself as a woman. I couldn't leave the children, and I didn't believe I could support them myself. He developed alcoholism, and Al-Anon finally helped me get myself back. My kids were grown when I left, and it took 14 years of being alone before I could make another connection.

I met a wonderful man and had 20 years with him, both of us older and wiser and much happier. I wish I had had the strength to get out of that first marriage sooner. Tell her she can find someone who will love her for herself. And he should admit he is gay and find a man who will love him for himself! — Married to a Gay Man

PETS OF THE WEEK

The Madison-Jefferson County Animal Shelter currently has a number of dogs, cats and kittens available for adoption.

Margo is an Alaskan husky mix with loads of energy. She's only 2 years old and has some learning to do but listening is no issue! She's a pretty big girl at 58 pounds so she need room to roam but she plays well with other critters and is hoping to find a furever home for the holidays.

Azriel, is one of three two month old cats at the shelter that are almost identical. She will be ready for her furever home as soon as she's neutered. Cat toys and catnip are my favorites besides my brothers and she's love to have a home for the holidays!

If you're interested in Margo or Azriel, please contact the Jefferson County Animal Shelter via email, phone, or even Facebook! The shelter has plenty of cats and dogs available for adoption.

Call the shelter at 812-273-1788 or email at animal.shelter39@jeffersoncounty.in.gov to make an appointment. Animals that are neutered and vaccinated for rabies are listed on sisaveapet.com if you would like to see what other animals are available for adoption.

Those with missing pets can call or email a complete description of the pet, when and where it was last seen, the owner's name and contact information, and a picture of the pet. Pets are held for three days before they are made available for adoption. Animals should not be abandoned outside of the shelter or dropped off at the shelter after hours. For animal control issues in Madison, call 812-265-3347. For animal control issues in Hanover and Jefferson County, call 812-265-2648.

TALBOTT

Circuit Judge DJ Mote imposed a sentence of 31 years — 17 of that for being a habitual felony offender — to be served in the Indiana Department of Correction on charges of Criminal Confinement and Aggravated Battery, both Level 3 felonies and Domestic Battery and Strangulation, both Level 6 felonies.

Talbott's criminal history includes several convictions for battery, dating back to 1986, domestic battery and being a felon in possession of ammunition, which was enough for him to also be found guilty as a habitual felony offender.

Talbott represented himself in the trial.

"This was a vicious, violent attack, and I'm relieved the jury convicted Mr. Talbott," Jefferson County Prosecutor David R. Sutter said. "He has a long history of violent behavior, and he terrified the woman in this attack."

Sutter said he was pleased with the outcome of the trial and credited Chief Deputy Prosecutor Melissa Campbell and Deputy Prosecutor Lynda Robison for their work in prosecuting the case. He also thanked the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office for their assistance throughout the trial.

Sutter said testimony from several expert witnesses was key. Those witnesses included Caryn Burton with ICADV and Dr. William Smock. Sutter thanked Indiana State Police Detective Nate Adams, Hanover Chief of Police Shane Caldwell and former Hanover PD Reserve Officer Gary Rowlett for their work as well.

The incident occurred on Oct. 28, 2019. Police were called for a domestic violence report the following day. The victim said Talbott had assaulted her, strangling her to the point that she almost passed out. Talbott would not let her leave. She had a sore throat and marks on her face and neck.

The woman, who was dating Talbott, said he became angry when she decided to leave due to his behavior. As she tried to run out of the house, she said Talbott grabbed her around the throat, pinning her to the ground. Talbott spoke abusively to the woman, threatening to kill her, and continuing to choke her. The woman told police she believed she would die.

Talbott eventually released his grip and let her get up and use the bathroom. However, he isolated her in the bathroom, issuing further threats and shoving her against the tub.

Talbott refused to allow the woman to leave, but eventually wanted to go to the liquor store. The woman told police she knew that was her chance to escape. She waited until Talbott went inside, then drove away.

When police went to Talbott's home later, he denied all the allegations, saying he did not touch or physically harm the woman.

"Mr. Talbott has clearly demonstrated that he is a dangerous and volatile man," said Sutter. "I am grateful the victim in this case no longer has to be in fear of him, and I'm glad he will be in prison where he won't be able to harm another woman."

Elsewhere in Kentucky, there have been 10,214 COVID deaths overall in 759,935 cases.

Carroll County has had 1,970 cases and 28 deaths with 69 residents hospitalized —10 of those in intensive case —for a 9.09 positivity percentage with 47% vaccinated.

Trimble County has had 1,275 cases and 17 deaths with 39 residents hospitalized — nine of those in intensive care — for a 10.71 positivity percentage and 34% vaccinated.

Kentucky Gov. Andy Beshear led a somber memorial service Sunday to remember the more than 10,000 Kentuckians who died from COVID-19.

To showcase the enormity of the loss, Beshear noted Kentucky's death toll from the global pandemic has surpassed the population of many towns across the state.

"Imagine any of those towns suddenly empty and you get an idea of the collective loss that this state has endured," the governor said.

Beshear announced that Kentucky-native Amanda Matthews has been commissioned to create a COVID-19 Memorial that will be placed on the statehouse grounds.

Those lost in the pandemic were remembered in prayers and speeches during the ceremony.

"My faith teaches me that every individual is a child of God, unique and irreplaceable," Beshear said. "That means their lives and their losses deserve our respect and our attention."

long-term with the Army Corp of Engineers, Indiana Department of Transportation and the Department of Natural Resources. "About a year from now as studies wind down" on how best to address ways to mitigate the flash flooding events, "they will begin offering us solutions that we will then have to figure out how we build that infrastructure."

Beyond the impact of the June flash flooding that impacted North Walnut Street and other parts of Jefferson County, Courtney said it's important the city "pay attention to all culverts and drainage in the interior of the community so we can mitigate flooding."

Board member David Carlow asked about removing debris, logs and tree limbs that might be in the creek bed,. Courtney said that once this project is done, the city wants to work with the Department of Natural Resources to get into the creek bed — a special permit from the DNR if required to take equipment into the creek bed — but that the vegetation remediation does not require a permit.

"It's all part of that strategy short-term, and then long-term," Courtney said. "I personally think we're going to have some really good outcomes with all the attention and focus we're making on planning that will have some good outcomes in the future."

In other business, the BPWS:

- Approved a highway utility agreement with the Indiana Department of Transportation to relocate a storm sewer at State Road 56 and Ferry Street. Brian Jackson, city utilities manager, said the cost is $60,942, and city's contribution will be $7,500. Jackson estimates the work could begin in September of 2022. He said the project deals with drainage issues INDOT is working to correct to divert runoff from draining onto private property and instead direct it to state-owned and public property. "It's in disrepair now. There's a sinkhole that has been fixed, but it will just get worse."
- Deputy Mayor Mindy McGee updated work on Main Street to the top of Hanover Hill, noting that it is near completion. Mastic repair for deeper cracks and holes is being done early this week. She said 12 turn arrows, two crosswalks and two parking spaces still need to be painted.
- Approved an addition to police Standard Operating Procedures to set guidelines for police officers in their use of social media. Police Chief John Wallace noted that as law enforcement officers they are dealing with sensitive information, not just for the police department but in the Courts. Additionally, he said that even as officers participate in social media, "they need to think how they represent the community."
- Courtney discussed a vaccine mandate that could impact the City of Madison because the city has more than 100 employees. He said due to lawsuits the vaccine mandate has been delayed until Jan. 4. "It's working it's way through the court system. We're not in favor of mandatory vaccines. It's not a position on the vaccine itself, but in a labor market where we're already constrained this does not make sense," he said.
- Courtney said he will be watching to see how President Joe Biden's infrastructure bill impacts the city. "We don't have a lot of detail information of what that means to the City of Madison, but to the State of Indiana it could generate between $8 to $9 billion for infrastructure across the state" impacting roads, bridges and broadband. "It will be like everything else awarded on a very competitive basis because of the demand for those dollars. We will continue to work hard to get the City of Madison's fair share of any of these funds, and continue our progress in improving our roads, sidewalks and infrastructure, and particularly stormwater management."
- Approved two PACE extensions, both due to contractor work delays — one was for Jennifer Joas for 413 East Main Street with that project extended to Feb. 16 and the other was for Lynn Pennington for 227 West Main Street extended to May 31.

Explosive start powers Madison to rout of Switzerland

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Madison coach Sonja Bowyer had been waiting for the game when her team shows how well it can shoot the ball. Unfortunately for Switzerland County, that game came on Friday.

Madison opened Friday's game on fire and never truly cooled off, scoring the first 18 points and rolling to a 53-27 win in girls basketball at Connor K. Salm Gymnasium.

The Cubs scored in every way imaginable. They drove to the basket, knocked down threes, got to the free-throw line and finished shots in transition. By the time Switzerland recovered from the early onslaught, the game was all but over.

"That's what we see in practice every single day. And that's what's been so frustrating," Bowyer said. "The first two games it's like, people don't know that we can shoot. I'm like, man, when we do it's going to be magical. And it was like that tonight."

It wasn't supposed to be this way. Switzerland County returned most of its pieces from an 18-win team and opened the season with a dominating 46-24 win over South Dearborn on Tuesday.

But the Pacers never had a chance on Friday. Cameran Cahall scored a basket seven seconds into the game for the Cubs and Cadence Traylor followed shortly after with a 3-pointer. Another three-ball by Casey Dyer and a transition basket by Taylor Lynch put the Cubs up 10-0 and Madison was off to the races. Cahall and Breck Ralston then hit back-to-back 3-pointers and Ralston added another basket and Madison was up 18-0 with 2:44 left in the first quarter.

Jessie Duvall finally broke the run with a pair of free throws for Switzerland and the Pacers played even with Madison for the rest of the first half, but the damage had been done.

"There are a lot of different responsibilities for (the start) and a lot of that comes down to me, too," Switzerland coach Brooke Todd said. "(Madison) followed their scout and played well. You tell your girls not to get down but of course they're going to get down."

Madison led 24-4 at the end of the first quarter and, after Switzerland cut a point off the lead in the second, erupted again in the third quarter to take their biggest lead of the night at 47-16 before settling into the 26-point win.

Madison ended up shooting just 43% (21-for-49) for the game and went to the free-throw line only four times, but they were 9-of-20 (45%) from the 3-point arc and had 17 assists on 21 made baskets.

But defensively was where the game was won. The Cubs

Carroll County's Evan Searcy powers his way on a run during Friday's playoff loss at Walton-Verona

Walton-Verona pulls away in 1st half to knock off Carroll 27-7

BY TIM HENDRICK
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

Carroll County football's season ended on a 27-7 loss to district rival Walton-Verona in the second round of the KHSAA Class 2A playoffs Friday night.

The game was played in wet conditions with a stiff breeze pushing a front in from the west. The weather surprise was a hailstorm that began at the start of the third quarter, lasting about four minutes.

Walton (9-3) took the opening kickoff back to their own 48-yard line and on the first play from scrimmage, Tyson Beach carried the ball into the end zone for a 52-yard touchdown as Walton jumped ahead 7-0.

Aiden Aldridge gave Carroll good field position with a return to the Carroll County 40-yard line and the Panthers ground out a couple of first downs including a 14-yard fourth down pass from Harrison Felts to Spencer Vaught for a first down. But later on fourth down and five to go at Walton's 13-yard line, Felts was sacked at the 21-yard line to turn the ball over on downs and end the drive.

A series of big runs by Walton's Wiley Baker pushed the ball to the Carroll 10-yard line where Beach scored his second touchdown of the game. The Bearcats missed the extra point kick but still led 13-0.

Another sack on fourth down ended Carroll's next drive and Walton took over with 2:25 to go in the second quarter. With 24 seconds left, Beach reeled in a 11-yard touchdown pass as the Bearcats took a 20-0 lead into halftime.

Second half rain limited both teams to their run games and Walton fumbled the ball with Carroll recovering at the Walton 20-yard line to set up the Panthers' only score when Felts took the ball in on a 16-yard run to cut the lead to 20-7.

Walton added another score on a run by Beach — his fourth touchdown of the game — for the final 27-7 margin.

Carroll County head coach Justin Franklin told his team that a 7-2 season was something to be proud of and to embrace it even though the season did not end the way they had hoped. Carroll opened the season with three COVID-related cancellations against North Oldham, Henry County and Madison and the Panthers' only losses on the field were two matchups with Walton-Verona.

"I am so proud of these guys," Franklin said. "They never quit, never gave up and played their hearts out tonight. For us to beat Walton, we have to play clean and we did not play clean enough tonight."

Carroll finished the season as the district runner-up. Walton-Verona advances to face unbeaten Beechwood (12-0) next Friday night.

NCAA SOCCER TOURNAMENT

Hanover men beat Lynchburg, Emory to reach Sweet 16

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Xander Ochsner scored what turned out to be the winning goal in the 56th minute to lift Hanover College men's soccer to a 1-0 win over 17th-ranked Emory in the second round of the NCAA Division III Tournament Sunday in Atlanta.

The Panthers, who had defeated Lynchburg 2-1 in overtime in the opening round on Saturday, had just six total shots in the match but made the most of their few opportunities. Evan Redmon picked up the assist on the game-winner after he played the ball at midfield and delivered to Ochsner who scored from 25 yards out.

"Redmon passed me the ball and as soon as it left my foot I was like, that's the one," said Ochsner, a sophomore from Floyds Knobs.

All of the scoring in Saturday's opening round occurred in the first half. After Griffin Phillips gave Lynchburg a 1-0 lead in the 57th minute, Joao Domenici tied the game for Hanover in the 87th minute off an assist from Josh Hughes.

Hanover then scored the game-winner in the 97th minute, late in the first overtime session, when Fernando Martin converted a Luke Eppler assist.

"It's fun. I think we are playing at our best," Hanover coach Matt Wilkerson said. "It's fun to watch our guys get better every game and enjoy the postseason."

Hanover held a 21-4 advantage in shots but just 6-2 on goal. Luciano Salemi had one save in goal for the Panthers.

Hanover (15-4-2) now advances to the Sweet Sixteen where it will take on eighth-ranked Messiah (18-1-2) on Friday. No. 24 Christopher Newport (12-4-2) will play No. 1 Washington & Lee (16-1-2) in the other regional semifinal. Location and times for the games have not yet been announced.

WOMEN FALL TO DOMINICAN

Dominican (Ill.) scored two goals in the final 15 minutes to beat Hanover 2-1 and eliminate the Panthers from the NCAA Division III Women's Soccer National Tournament Saturday in St. Louis.

Hanover scored first, with Autumn Boothby scoring off an assist from Bryn Rolfsen just 14 minutes into the game. The Panthers held that 1-0 lead for the next hour before Dominican tied the match in the 76th minute on a goal by Hannah Anderson.

The Stars then got the game-winner in the 88th minute by Regan Coxon to go ahead 2-1 and hold on for the win.

Dominican held an 8-5 advantage in overall shots and 5-4 on goal. Keeper Maggie Hinegardner had three saves for Hanover.

Dominican (19-3-2) then fell 1-0 to sixth-ranked Washington (Mo.) in the second round on Sunday.

Hanover ends the season with a 13-2-4 record.

West Washington holds on at the wire to deny Southwestern 36-34

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Southwestern young team had its chances down the stretch but ended up on the wrong side of a 36-34 girls basketball loss to West Washington at home on Saturday.

A night after the Rebels had defeated Oldenburg 56-35 for coach Brian Crank's first win at the school, Southwestern was denied victory when two good looks at the basket in the final 30 seconds didn't fall, allowing the Senators to escape Hanover with the win.

Despite the loss, Crank was pleased with his team's effort.

"Effort-wise, we're 4-0. The effort has been off the charts and that's what we preach every day in practice," Crank said. "We're getting there. We've gotten better every game and that's all I can ask for."

Southwestern's defense forced 24 West Washington turnovers and limited the Senators to just four points in the fourth quarter. But the Rebels struggled on the offensive end and it is there where they ultimately lost the game.

Southwestern turned the ball over 16 times and went long stretches in the second half without scoring, including a 5 ½ minute stretch in the fourth quarter. Crank realizes his inexperienced squad will struggle on that end but he was hoping for a better job of taking care of the ball.

"We want them to average 11-12 turnovers per game and we just had too many tonight. We took care of the ball last night and we won," Crank said. "We we're phenomenal defensively tonight. We can't play much better defensively. But we just couldn't put the ball in the hole."

David Campbell

Southwestern's Ashley Fulton (12) puts up a shot in traffic late in the Rebels' loss to West Washington at home on Saturday.

Other than a brief stretch in the second quarter, it was a one-possession game throughout the first half and the score was tied at 16-16 at halftime. Ashley Fulton opened the third with a 3-pointer to put the Rebels ahead but Southwestern then went cold, allowing West Washington to score 10-straight points and take a 26-19 lead.

The Senators never trailed again, although the game remained close the rest of the way. West Washington led 32-28 after the third quarter and neither team scored for the first 5 ½ minutes of the fourth before Kylie Eccles knocked down a basket to close the margin to 32-30. It was still a two-point game with less than a minute to play when Eccles missed a free throw and both Eccles and Fultonmissed shots from the floor. Despite making just 2-of-7 from the free-throw line, the Senators were able to hang on for the win.

"We got the shot we wanted at the end. What else can you ask for?" Crank asked.

Eccles and Emma Long each scored nine points to lead Southwestern while Fulton scored seven, Trinity McLain had five and Riley Scroggins and Amber Hatton each had two.

Madison Brown and Mackenzie Brown each scored 10 to lead West Washington.

On Friday, Southwestern rolled to a 19-7 rally in the second quarter to pull away for the 56-35 win over the Twisters. Long had 15 points, Eccles and Fulton each scored 14, and McLain added 12 points for the Rebels. Long also had six rebounds and Fulton had four assists.

Southwestern, now 1-3 on the season, hosts North Decatur today and heads to South Dearborn on Saturday.

Offensive woes doom Hanover in Victory Bell loss to Franklin

BY JORDAN BEAR

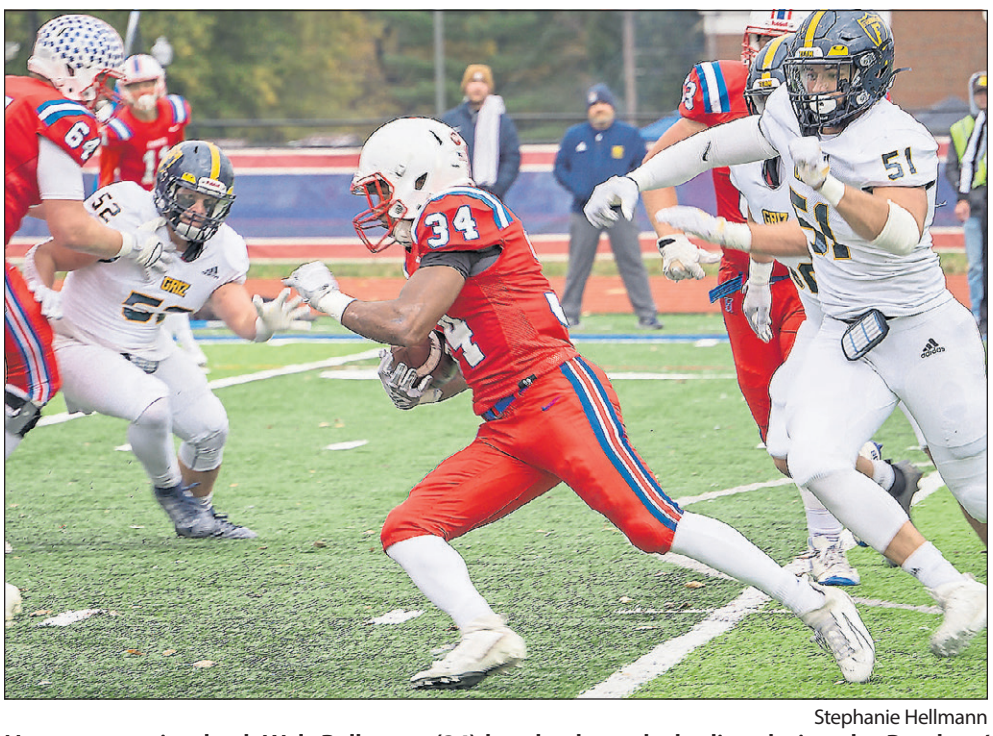
Hanover football picked the wrong day to have a poor offensive game and the Panthers surrendered the Victory Bell for the first time in four years, 27-16, to Franklin on Saturday at home.

Hanover got off to a great start, scoring 10 points in the first half and coming up with key stops to take a 10-0 lead into halftime. But Hanover's offense ground to a halt over the final two quarters and Franklin rallied 27-6 to grab the victory.

"We just couldn't get into a rhythm. We are beat up on the offensive line and just really struggled to get holes for our guys," Hanover coach Matt Theobald said. "Give Franklin credit. They outplayed us. I told the guys it's hard to see the Bell leave but that should motivate them to want to get it back next year."

Hanover and Franklin both exchanged punts on the first possessions of the game but Hanover finally got on the board late in the first quarter when Shawn Coane took the ball into the end zone from 13 yards out to give the Panthers a 7-0 lead.

Neither team could get anything going offensively the rest of the half until Blake Simpson hit a 33-yard field goal as time expired to give Hanover a 10-0 lead going into the half.



Stephanie Hellmann

Hanover running back Walt Ballenger (34) breaks through the line during the Panthers' loss to Franklin in the annual Victory Bell game on Saturday at Hanover.

The second half couldn't have gone worse for Hanover (5-5, 4-3 Heartland). Franklin scored on back-to-back possessions to take a 14-10 lead late in the third quarter. The Panthers answered on a pass from Matt Weimer to Walt Ballinger from 17 yards out to put Hanover back on top 16-14, but the rest of the game belonged to Franklin.

The Grizzlies got a 38-yard field goal by Derek Baldin to go back on top by one, then added 10 more points in the fourth to put the game away.

Hanover's run game, which has carried the offense all year, simply wasn't there in the second half as they were held to minus-23 yards. Theobald said the team's missing pieces finally caught up with them.

"It's like the Colts; you take away three guys on their offensive line and they couldn't run the ball and that's what happened to us," Theobald said. "You have to be able to run the ball to win, and we didn't run the ball. That's on us for not getting the younger guys ready. We graduate two great running backs so hopefully those young guys will be ready to go."

Hanover not only graduates running backs Shawn Coane and Walt Ballinger, they also graduate quarterback Matt Weimer, an offensive lineman and a tight end. Theobald said the group has been great, winning three conference championships in their years at Hanover, but now it's time for the team to move forward.

"Those guys have been great and done so much with our program but we'll be back. That's what good programs do," Theobald said. "We'll be back in the weight room on Tuesday working with the guys and be ready to go next fall. The guys should use this as motivation going forward and be ready to come back and win another conference title next year."

Holmes, No. 8 Indiana women beat No. 13 Kentucky 88-67

BY EVAN GERIKE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

BLOOMINGTON — The stars showed up for No. 8 Indiana on Sunday.

Mackenzie Holmes scored a career-high 29 points and fellow preseason All-Big Ten selection Grace Berger had 19 as the Hoosiers pulled away from No. 13 Kentucky in the second half for an 88-67 victory.

Ali Patberg, a former Notre Dame player now in her seventh season of eligibility, added 16 for Indiana.

"I hope this comes out the right way, but I expect that from them," coach Teri Moren said. "I know they've put in the work. I know and the staff knows they're talented. It's just making sure whether we're play-calling over on the sideline or sometimes just allowing them to play, they'll figure it out."

Berger hit a half-court buzzer-beater that gave Indiana a 38-32 lead at halftime.

After Kentucky cut the lead to 48-46 with 5:44 remaining in the third quarter, the Hoosiers (2-0) went on a 7-0 run and never led by fewer than six points again.

Holmes, a junior, had 16 points in the second half. She finished 11 for 15 from the field and 6 for 6 from the foul line.

Nicole Cardaño-Hillary scored all 12 of her points after the break for Indiana.

Rhyne Howard scored 23 points for Kentucky (2-1).

"We wanted to come out and start hot and stay hot for four quarters, but when you're playing a team like Kentucky, that's not always going to happen," Berger said. "We outlast a lot of teams, so I think that's why we see in the late third and fourth quarter we kind of pull away."

After missing her first six shots, Berger finished 6 for 16. She also had nine rebounds.

"I was obviously mad at myself because I was missing some shots I shouldn't have been missing, but other than that I knew I didn't really have a choice but to bounce back because I knew who we were facing today," she said.

Indiana shot 54.2% from the field and was 6 for 11 on 3-pointers. Kentucky shot 41.5% overall, including 4 of 13 on 3s.

The game got physical and sloppy from the beginning, with the teams combining for 26 turnovers and 42 fouls.

"It's hard, though, when there's a lot of whistles," Moren said. "It's hard to get any momentum, it's hard to get any pace. That was a little bit frustrating, and I think it was a little frustrating for Kentucky as well."

BIG PICTURE

Kentucky: The Wildcats had no answer for Holmes in the post all game. She often found herself unguarded beneath the basket.

Indiana: The Hoosiers beat Kentucky for the first time since Nov. 12, 2006, a span that included the teams going 14 years without playing each other. In last season's matchup in Lexington, the Wildcats won 72-68 behind 22 points from Howard.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

Indiana's victory might help the Hoosiers climb to a new program high in the polls, helped by early-season losses from No. 3 Stanford, No. 5 North Carolina State and No. 6 Louisville.

HIGHLIGHT REEL

Berger surprised herself with that shot from midcourt.

"I don't practice half-court shots and when I do I'm usually pretty bad at them," Berger said. "The basketball gods were on my side today with that one."

UP NEXT

Kentucky returns home to face Winthrop next Sunday, the first of five consecutive games in Lexington.

Indiana welcomes Norfolk State to Bloomington on Tuesday, its second of two home games before heading on the road to face Quinnipiac.

Taylor's big day, blocked punt lead Colts past Jaguars 23-17

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Jonathan Taylor's gashing runs and a blocked punt helped the Indianapolis Colts open with a flourish Sunday. Then their defense held tight for the final three quarters.

It was a winning combination.

Taylor ran for 116 yards and a touchdown, the Colts added another score on the block and they held on for a 23-17 win over Jacksonville to even their record for the first time this season.

"It's big, especially against a division opponent," quarterback Carson Wentz said. "It seems like we've been climbing out of this hole for a while now. It wasn't our best game, but a win's a win."

It wasn't easy, even against a foe with 12 straight road losses and nine straight defeats against division rivals.

But after starting the game with a 17-0 lead and again struggling to deliver the knockout punch, Indy (5-5) did just enough to close out its fourth win in five games. Kemoko Turay's fumble recovery with 50 seconds left ended Jacksonville's hopes.

"What I liked was that in the fourth quarter, say what you want — at times, it was ugly — but we finished in the fourth quarter," coach Frank Reich said. "I thought the defense played great the whole game, other than the one long run they got."

Taylor pulled into a tie for the league rushing lead with two-time defending champ Derrick Henry (937 yards) and became the fourth player in the Super Bowl era to score a touchdown and produce 100 yards from scrimmage in seven straight games.

It was the blocked punt that really derailed the Jaguars (2-7).

Zaire Franklin burst through a gap in the middle of the Jacksonville line, got his hands up just in time and then E.J. Speed scooped up the bouncing ball and scored to make it 10-0. Taylor added a 4-yard touchdown on Indy's next series, and the Jags never fully recovered.

"It was a twist, and I just saw from those things you look at on the sideline, the pictures," Jags coach Urban Meyer said, referring to the tablets coaches and players use to examine in-game video. "It was a looper and we just made an error."

Jacksonville answered with a 66-yard scoring run from Jamal Agnew but missed the extra point. James Robinson added a 1-yard TD run early in the fourth quarter and when Trevor Lawrence connected with Dan Arnold on a 2-point conversion, the Jags were suddenly within 20-17.

The Colts' Michael Badgley extended the margin on a 37-yard field goal with 2:22 to play, leaving Lawrence with a chance to win it. Instead, the Colts got a strip-sack to close it out.

"I just have to take care of the ball," Lawrence said. "That just stings when you end the game that way. I'm disappointed with myself and frustrated."

STAT PACK

Jaguars: Agnew has now caught a TD pass, run for a score and returned a kickoff and a missed field goal for TDs this season. He had three carries for 79 yards. ... Lawrence was 3 of 14 with 56 yards in the first half and wound up 16 of 35 with 162 yards. He has 13 turnovers this season. ... Robinson ran 12 times for 57 yards after missing last week's game with a bruised heel.

Colts: Wentz was 22 of 34 with 180 yards but was held without a TD pass for the first time in seven games. ... Indy is 9-0 when Taylor runs for 100 yards, and he's the fourth player in Colts history to reach 2,000 yards rushing in his first two seasons. ... Michael Pittman Jr. caught seven passes for 71 yards, but his streak of three straight games with a TD catch ended.

BABY WATCH

Wentz's wife, Madison, is due to give birth to the couple's second child in the next few days. But that didn't change their plans Sunday. Carson Wentz told reporters earlier this week that if she went to the hospital on game day he would join her — afterward — and Madison Wentz attended the game. Following the win, Carson Wentz said he had not yet heard from his wife.

"He just told me he'll see me on Wednesday," Reich said. "We'll pray for a safe and healthy delivery."

INJURY REPORT

Jaguars: Linebacker Dakota Allen walked off early in the fourth quarter with an injured shoulder following a kickoff.

UP NEXT

The Colts visit Buffalo next Sunday. The Bills beat Indy in the playoffs last season (TV: Live on CBS at 1 p.m.).

harassed Switzerland into 11-for-47 (23%) shooting, including 1-of-12 on 3-pointers. Senior twin sisters Maddie and Jessie Duvall, who combined for 35 points on Tuesday, where held to nine on Friday.

"Those are very, very skilled players and we know they can drive and we know they can shoot. We knew that we had to shut them down," Bowyer said. "Our game plan was to make sure they didn't touch the ball. I thought Taylor (Lynch) and Cadence (Traylor) did a great job of not letting them get it. We didn't want them to touch the ball. I challenged them and man, they rose to the occasion."

Ralston scored 11 points off the bench to lead Madison while Cahall and Lynch added 10 points each. Cahall also had 11 rebounds for her double-double while Lynch had six assists. Dyer scored eight points, Traylor had seven, Mary Johnson added four and Alaina Kelley had three.

Macy Collier led Switzerland with seven points. Maddie Duvall and Courtney Higgins each had five, Jessie Duvall scored four, and Dakota Richards, Gracie White and Hannah Hayes had two each.

Switzerland regrouped in a big way on Saturday, blasting Henryville 52-21 at home. Maddie Duvall had 14 points and five steals, Jessie Duvall had 12 points, eight assists and six steals, Halle Archer had 10 points, Collier had eight points and five rebounds, Hayes scored four points and Allena Weaver and Higgins had two points each. Nora Hankins added five rebounds.

Madison, now 2-2 on the season, travels to South Dearborn today and then heads to Salem on Saturday.

Switzerland, now 2-1, travels to Rising Sun on Friday and hosts Franklin County on Saturday.

Cards retire Jackson's jersey

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LOUISVILLE — Lamar Jackson was all smiles and even a little reflective as Louisville retired his No. 8 jersey.

The 2016 Heisman Trophy winner joined Johnny Unitas on Saturday as the program's only players to have their jerseys retired. Their numbers were placed at opposite ends of Cardinal Stadium's east upper deck, with Unitas' 16 unveiled before Louisville's 41-3 victory over Syracuse, with a stiff wind ruffling the tarp over Jackson's No. 8.

That not-so-subtle peek didn't dampen the moment Jackson's name and number were unveiled in a halftime ceremony.

"I'd just like to thank my teammates. They were with me every step of the way, every game," Jackson said afterward.

"It's an honor, man, to see all the Lamar Jackson jerseys people wear. Kids, grandmas and grandpas. I can't thank Cardinal Nation enough."

Saturday was Lamar Jackson Day, with reminders of the dynamic QB all around the stadium.

The street in front of the Cardinals' Howard Schnellenberger training complex was renamed Lamar Jackson Way and featured red-and-white speed limit signs of 8 mph. His number was painted on both 25-yard lines.

Video replays showed some of Jackson's highlights — including Jackson hurdling a Syracuse defender on a memorable touchdown run — along with tributes from former Louisville teammates and his current teammates with the Baltimore Ravens.
